

Foundation for Opioid Response Efforts

Job Description

SENIOR PROGRAM OFFICER

The Foundation for Opioid Response Efforts (FORE)

THE ORGANIZATION'S HISTORY, VISION AND MISSION

The Foundation for Opioid Response Efforts (FORE) was formed in 2018 as a private, national, Grantmaking Foundation, dedicated to combating the opioid crisis in the United States. As of 2021, FORE has awarded 44 grants, committing $13 million dollars thus far towards solutions to this crisis. Additionally, FORE has rapidly developed activities as a convener and information resource.

The Foundation's vision is to inspire and accelerate action to end the opioid epidemic. The foundation's mission is to convene and support partners advancing patient-centered evidence-based solutions addressing the opioid epidemic. With patients at the center, our focus includes Professional Education, Payer & Provider Strategies, Policy Initiatives and Public Awareness.

SUMMARY DESCRIPTION

Reporting to the President, the Senior Program Officer (SPO) is a newly created position and will be an addition to an existing program team of senior program officer and program associate. This new member will be responsible for building upon our established programmatic infrastructure by further developing, implementing, and coordinating grantmaking strategies and for advancing strategic and operational objectives of program areas. These grantmaking activities include developing and implementing Requests for Proposals (RFP) and managing the selection process, reviewing, and analyzing proposals, writing recommendations for funding, monitoring grant performance, serving as the primary contact and developing strong working relationships with grantees. The Senior Program Officer will research new program areas and potential grantees and participate in value-added activities such as convenings of experts and development of resources. The SPO will work collaboratively with administrative and program staff to ensure fiscally sound grant making; and will work closely with the President, program staff, and communications team on communications strategies

Foundation for Opioid Response Efforts

SPECIFIC RESPONSIBILITIES

The Senior Program Officer will work very closely with the President and Program Team to contribute to advancing and implementing objectives of assigned program areas including:

- Development/writing of program plans for FORE's programmatic work. This responsibility includes synthesizing findings from the past year from all projects across the program area, assessing other ongoing efforts nationwide and assisting in the development of strategic options for the program for the year ahead.
- Development of new projects, including development of RFP's, identifying prospective grantees, working with prospective grantees to improve project design, collecting background information/research, and conducting literature reviews, developing knowledge on specific focus areas, participation in meetings regarding projects and preparation of follow-up memoranda on meetings.
- Preparation of the description of proposed projects for review and approval by the Board of Directors.
- Management of grants including: drafting payment and reporting schedules and contract language, tracking the current status of projects through ongoing contact with grantee principal investigators; reviewing grantee interim and final deliverables (e.g., interview protocols, survey instruments, preliminary data analysis and papers/articles for publication); maintaining knowledge of work related to grants; maintaining files on assigned grants; and insuring that grantees follow payment and reporting schedules).
- Preparing completed grant memoranda on all completed projects, summarizing achievements, issues in implementation, and lessons learned for grantmaking.
- Development of briefing materials, policy briefs and journal articles for publication.
- Possible development of survey instruments, analysis of survey data, and the dissemination of survey results.
- Preparing talks and presentations to disseminate the foundation's work.
- Collaborating with external evaluators on assessments of individual grants and programs.

Foundation for Opioid Response Efforts

- Convening grantees for purposes of shared learning, spreading best practices.
- Representing the foundation at meetings and conferences.
- Working with communications staff/contractors in the presentation and dissemination of project findings to the media and other interested parties.

QUALIFICATIONS

Doctoral level training is preferred, although outstanding candidates with a combination of relevant experience and education would be considered. Candidates must have a minimum of five years related work experience; and demonstrated experience in areas of substance use disorder, public health, health policy and/or health systems. Demonstrated research and analytical skills and strong communication and writing abilities is required. Prior foundation/philanthropy experience desirable. Must have excellent interpersonal skills, an ability to think creatively, and a credible commitment to creating change as strong personal characteristics. Must be well organized with concern for details, accuracy, and deadlines and have the ability to set priorities and work with a minimum of supervision. Must be very collaborative and able to work well within a small, highly productive team. As a relatively new, small organization, flexibility, and a willingness to participate in the general workflow of the office are also necessary attributes. Commitment to FORE's mission is absolutely necessary.

Candidates should have the ability to work collaboratively, as well as independently, set priorities and manage time, and have supervisory skills. Candidates should also have the ability to work effectively in a team environment, to communicate and work well with all levels of staff and to think creatively, have strong coordination and project management skills, excellent written and oral communication skills and be well organized and efficient with concern for details, accuracy and deadlines.

FORE has a small staff, so judgment, integrity, and the ability to listen with sensitivity to others are traits that are particularly important in an organization of its size, where teamwork is essential to effectiveness. The ability to work collegially and to have an interest in and strong commitment to FORE's mission are key qualifications.
